INDEX

TO THE

TWENTY-FIFTH VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ACROSTIC, an, 458.
Advice, on ſuperfluous, 314.
Agricultural reports, 62, 149, 215, 296, 387, 494.
All-ſpice, Mr. Edwards's account of it, 90.
Anagrams, 37, 57, 218, 237, 278, 298, 397, 497. Anſwers to, 37, 277, 397.
Ancle, the comforts of a ſprained one, 125.
Anecdote of Sir Baſil Keith and the Earl of Manfield, 17. of Cuzzona, a famous ſinger, 45. of King Pſammenitus, 56. of Sir Iſaac Newton and Dr. Halley, 95. of the ſtrange effects of ſuperſtition, 96. of Admiral Bligh and a ſailor, 115. of the Arabs, 116. of Dean Swift, 117. of General Boyd, 124. of Mr. Noy, the Attorney-General, 136. of Sir Thomas Wyatt, ibid. of Louis XI. 176. of Sir Thomas More, ibid. of ſagacity in a dog, 196. of a bailiff outwitted, 255. of a poor boy and girl, 256. of Sir Walter Eſſex, 276. of Sir John Fineux, 317. of Dr. Thomas Wilſon, ibid. of vanity, 336. relative to tythes, 337. of King George I. ibid. of the Duke of Monmouth, 357. of an American divine and an old Negro, 377. of the Leviathan man of war, 434. of a clergyman and a ſailor, 449. of Mr. Paul Dutton, a reſpectable Cheſhire farmer, 457. of the preſent Emperor of Germany, 477. of the Duke of Parma, 497. humorous one relative to a hand-organ, 503.
Anecdotes of Shakeſpear, 151. of Nicholas Amhurſt, 173. of Sir John Maſon, 195. relative to behaviour on a death-bed, 197. of Lord Peterborough, 515. of George the Second, 517.
Artillery, ſchool of, account of one lately inſtituted by the Grand Signor, 44.

B.

Bally, Miſs Maria, intereſting particulars reſpecting her murder, 513.
Bigotry and intolerance, Mr. Wraxall's deſcription of their deſtructive effects in the 16th century among the French, 433.
Britiſh Embaſſy, intereſting account of its march from the city of Tong-tchew, in China, to the Imperial Palace of Yeuman-man Yeuman, with a new deſcription of Pekin, and ſome curious particulars of the cuſtoms and manners of the Chineſe, by Æneas Anderſon, 411, 427.

to

Brothers, Richard, the Great Prophet of Paddington-ſtreet, account of him, 201.
Brunſwick family, account of, 414.
Burke, Mr. his political ſentiments in 1778, 43.

C.

Caterpillars, account of a water which deſtroys them and other inſects, invented by C. Tatin, ſeedſman and floriſt, at Paris, 451.
Charades, 97, 137, 197, 238, 258, 278, 338, 358, 418, 438, 477, 498. Anſwers to, 57, 97, 117, 118, 137, 177, 337, 437, 477, 517, 518.
Cheſtnut, obſervations on the uſe and advantages of the, 261.
Chineſe government, account of the, 252.
Chineſe, curious particulars of the, by Captain Mackintoſh, 468.
Complaint, a ſerious, 272.
Corſica, memoirs of Theodore, King of, 81.
Coſmo of Medicis, account of the former, by Mr. Wraxall, 381.
Coughing, on the convenience of, 409.
Cuſtom, on the force of, 335.
Cyprus, account of that iſland, 421.

D.

Diſcovery, a curious, 115.
Dutch, their domeſtic manners, 161. their phyſiognomical character, 135.

E.

Earthenware, Biſhop Watſon's account of the manufacture of different ſorts of it, 84.
Edward and Matilda, 132, 146.
Engliſh, curious particulars of their ancient cuſtoms and manners, 121, 141, 161, 187, 203. ſketch of their political character, 417.
Enigmas, 38, 57, 78, 137, 157, 198, 237, 338, 378, 397, 478, 518. Anſwers to, 17, 78, 97, 157, 257, 297, 317, 457.
Epitaphs, curious, 77, 177, 217.
Errington, Mr. account of his being ſhot by Miſs Broadric, 435.
Eſcape, extraordinary, 130.
European politics, general review of, 30, 109, 209, 286, 361, 465.
Expectant relations, on the conduct of, 51.

F.

Fitzwilliam, Earl, his letter to the Earl of Carliſle, 301, 321.
Fitzwilliam, Earl, ſome account of, 375.
Fox, Mr. ſketch of his talents, 233.
France, remarks on the Parliaments of, 249. ſtate of the eccleſiaſtical revenues of that country and Flanders, 254.
Froſts, accounts of ſome remarkable, 251.

H.

Hardy, Thomas, trial of, 6, 21, 46, 64, 91, 127, 152, 166, 184.
Honeſt, it is not wiſe to be too, 354, 369.
Hydrophobia, dreadful inſtance of, 35. precautions to be taken againſt, 105.

I.

Idleneſs, thoughts on, 352.
Indians, Captain Imlay's account of the religion and manners

ners of thoſe who reſide to the eaſtward of the Miſſiſſippi, 181.
Invitations, on, 388.

J.

Jews, Dr. Prieſtley's remarks on their future reſtoration, 63.
Jones, Sir William, character of him by Sir John Shore, 507.

K.

Knowledge, learning, and taſte, in Great Britain, during the reign of James I. Part I. hiſtory of, 224, 241, 269, 281, 307, 328, 345.

L.

Landlords, hint to, 257.
Leſley, George, the life of, 13, 24.
Letters, curious, 449.
Little things, on attention to, 192.

M.

Mary, Queen, curious particulars reſpecting her life, 495.
Modeſty, inſtance of exemplary, 117.
Molloy, Captain, his letter to Lieutenant Dickſon, of the Cæſar, the day after the Court Martial cloſed which diſmiſſed him from the command of that ſhip, 474.
Murder, account of a ſhocking one lately committed at Vienna, 250.

N.

Nile, remarks on that river, by Mr. Niebuhr, 101.

O.

Ottoman empire, ſtriking picture of the, as it exiſted under Solyman II. about the middle of the 16th century, by N. W. Wraxall, 443.

P.

Pace, echo de, 257.
Patagonians, their ſingular method of interment, 75.
Pennſylvania, Mr. T. Coxe's intereſting account of that province, 481.
Pichegru, ſome account of General, 501.
Plymouth prayer, copy of one uſed there, 114.
Poland, affecting correſpondence between the unfortunate King of that country and the Britiſh Ambaſſador, 221.
Politeneſs in converſation, on, 235.
Political writers, Dr. Aikin's remarks on, 104.
Poor, plan for the relief of the induſtrious, 222.
Portugal, Mr. Wraxall's ſketch of the ſucceſsful ſituation of that kingdom in the 16th century, 475.
Port wine, obſervations on the uſe of it ſince the commencement of the late additional tax, 227.
Powder tax, remarks on it, by a barber, 441.
Prophets, accounts of ſome pretended ones in the reign of Queen Anne, and particularly of one of the name of Nicholas Fatio, 393.

Q.

Quakers, their yearly epiſtle, 471.
Queen's birth-day, account of its celebration, January 19, 1795, 70.
Queſtions, 17, 78, 97, 137, 157, 197, 217, 238, 258, 278, 318, 338, 397, 418, 458. Anſwers to, 57, 177, 297, 357, 377, 437, 517.

R.

Rebuſſes, 18, 37, 98, 118, 137, 138, 178, 218, 238, 258, 298, 318, 378, 438, 518. Anſwers to,

to, 37, 177, 218, 237, 257, 298, 338, 357, 397, 417, 457, 458, 498.
Reflections, 16, 36, 77, 117, 136, 156, 176, 197, 217, 236, 256, 277, 297, 306, 336, 358, 418, 437, 496, 498, 516.
Rohilla chiefs, account of the cruel proceedings of Gholaum Kaudir, one of them, written by an eye-witneſs, 405.
Royal captive, hiſtory of an unfortunate, 229, 246, 266, 293, 332, 348, 371, 382, 401, 422, 445, 461, 481, 504.

S.

Sheep, the beſt way to keep them at inclement ſeaſons, without hay, graſs, or turnips, 151.
Sprained ancle, comforts of one, 125.
Stedman, Colonel, his advice to his ſon, 89.
Storm in Cumberland, account of a, 12.

T.

Thelwall, John, ſketch of the trial of, 452.
Tontine dividends, enquiry reſpecting, 277.
Tooke, Mr. John Horne, account of his trial, 391.
Treaſon, High, trials for, 6, 21, 46, 64, 127, 152, 166, 390.
Trials, intereſting, 1, 174, 184, 341.
Turkiſh Ambaſſador, account of the ceremony obſerved at his public entry and audience, 106.
Turkiſh illiberality, curious ſpecimen of, 385.

V.

Vanity, on, 416.
Verſes to the memory of my much-lamented friend and relation, Thomas Witheridge, who died of that fatal diſorder, the yellow fever, at Jamaica, in the Weſt-Indies, by D. Gill, of Briſtol, 19. the releaſe, addreſſed to a coquette, by Albert, of Sherborne, 20. night, ibid. occaſional prologue, ſpoken to the hiſtorical play of Edward the Black Prince, performed by the pupils at Mr. Weatherdon's academy, in Newton Abbot, December 9, 1794, 30. to hope, 40. ode for the new year, by H. J. Pye, Eſq. Poet Laureat, 59. elegy, addreſſed, in the winter of 1793, to a red-breaſt, in Seven Oaks Church, in Kent, 60. on wanton ſatire, ibid. to the humane, 78. humanity, 80. rondeau, by Mrs. Radcliffe, ibid. occaſional lines ſpoken by Maſter Richard Ellicombe, at the annual exhibition, by the young gentlemen of Alphington Academy, on December 16, 1794, 99, 139. on being told that old Love was dead, 100. lines hung upon an oak in Lord Longford's park, ibid. on winter, 118. to memory, ibid. an elegy, 120. on the butterfly, ibid. lines written near the grave of an unfortunate fair one, who fell a ſacrifice to perfidy, 159. to imagination, 160. to a violet, ibid. elegy on my ſailor, 179. ſonnet, ibid. the Rev. R. Polwhele's tranſlation of the ſecond elegy of Tyrtæus, 180. epigrams, 180, 280. Boetius, Lib. III. imitated, 199. addreſs to the author of lines on wanton ſatire, inſerted in page 60, of the preſent volume, 200. inſcription for a medicinal fountain at the Leaſowes, by the late Mr. Shenſtone, ibid. on the much lamented death of Cha. Critchill, junior, who died April 10, 1794, aged 24 years, 219. winter, by the Rev. Mr. Robarts, ibid. epitaph on Marian, 220. ode to peace, by Miſs Robinſon, 239. on the death death of Captain Faulknor, who fell on the 10th of January, 1795, gallantly fighting for his King and country, by a lady, 240. the moraliſt, by Mrs. Robinſon, ibid. the viſion, or the lecture of faſhion to Mr. Pitt, 259. ode on the 8th day of March, 1795, being the anniverſary of William V. Prince of Orange and Naſſau, &c. &c. when he entered the 48th year of his age, by an officer who lately had the honour to ſerve under his command, 279. on the deceaſe of the Rev. George Inman, vicar of Burrington, and rector of Withycombe, Somerſet, by Dr. Crane, 280. reflections on the addreſs to the author of wanton ſatire, 299. the ſighs of the heart, by William St. John, ibid. elegy by Lady Burrell, 319. the firſt hour of morning, by Mrs. Radcliffe, 320. on ſpring, 339. on a ſcolding wife, by Jerry Denoghue, 340. imitation of the Greek of Menander, written in Wells cathedral, by Dr. Crane, ibid. ode to fancy, 359. to memory, by Myra, 360. to a lady who drew the pins from her bonnet in a thunder-ſtorm, by the Rev. James Hurdis, ibid. fond recollections of youth, from "The Pleaſures of Memory," a poem, 379, 398. ſonnet to peace, by James Traer, of Taunton, 380. the ſong of conſtancy, 400. Philander, a paſtoral, 419. the blighting wind in May, 420. on ambition, by D. Gill, of Briſtol, 439. occaſional lines on the death of a young lady who died at Lyme-Regis, April 18, 1795, aged 17 years, 440. to a blighted roſe, ibid. addreſſed to a young gentleman on the death of an eſteemed friend, by W. T. of Kingſbridge, 459. the backbiter, by James Traer, of Taunton, 460. addreſs to the French, by J. Denoghue, 479. advice to a parent, 480. ode for his Majeſty's birth-day, 1795, by H. J. Pye, Eſq. Poet-Laureat, 499. addreſs to ſummer, by Miſs A. M. Porter, 500. verſes to the memory of the late Miſs C— T—r, who died at Briſtol, May 12, 1795, in the 22d year of her age, much regretted and ſincerely lamented by her numerous friends and relatives, written by D. G. 519.

W.

Wedgwood, Joſiah, Eſq. account of the late, 41.

Winter of 1794-5, chronicle of the, 311.

Woollen manufactures of this country, obſervations relative to the, 235.